

Third place finisher at the 2013 American Association of Community Theatre National Festival with our production of Cradle and All

Home
Upcoming Season Productions
About Us
Rent the Facility
Join Us
Help YOUR Community Theatre
Tickets/Purchases
Press Releases
EVENTS CALENDAR
WRCT Blog
Contact Us
UPCOMING AUDITIONS!

WRCT Blog

Time Off

by Mike Barrett

From the time our group ends the final play of the regular season until we open the next, it might seem like a long time, but we are very busy. The 2nd week of May to the final week of September is about 18 weeks apart, during that time we hold annual meetings, nominate and elect officers, plan and cast TWO children's plays, a haunted house (and help with other groups' haunted houses). Our Corporate and Artistic Directors hold several planning meetings with committees, we send out season ticket information, and participate with and host several cultural and community events during the summer. Many theatrical enterprises take some sort of "hiatus", but for us, there is no such thing. The children's' programming is especially popular, and the haunted houses have been a fine fundraiser, this year it is stepping up to another level, I assure you!

Many theatrical enterprises take some sort of "hiatus", but for us, there is no such thing. The children's' programming is especially popular, and the haunted houses have been a fine fundraiser, this year it is stepping up to another level, I assure you!

We have made some decisions on changing the content of our Facebook pages, with one overall page to refer to for the public, and more private group for the use of facility and volunteer people. Look for better, more frequent updates on the WRCT Facebook page, and if you are a volunteer or cast member, you will enjoy the "inside" info and resources to help while a play is running.

The most important thing you can do as a fan of live theater is tell a friend you saw a great play, ask a stranger if they have seen a play lately, we do some good ones, there is nothing better than word-of-mouth advertising. Thanks!

Thank you for reading!

Mike Barrett

Michael Barrett is President of the WRCT Board of Directors

Blog Archive (PDF format)

June, 2019

Top